A press meet organised by Growth Sellers Pvt Ltd in Kathmandu on Sunday.

Himalayan News Service

Kathmandu, February 6

Growth Sellers Pvt Ltd is organising the fourth edition of HR Meet on February 24. The annual event will bring together human resource professionals from different organisations, who are likely to deliberate on industry issues and share their experiences. The event will culminate into presentation of the 'HR Manager of the Year 2010' award.

Internationally-renowned professionals such as Barry Maher, Sanjay Muthal, L P Bhanu Sharma are slated to speak on the occasion.

Maher is an American motivational speaker and sales management professional whose clientele consists of ABC Network, AT&T, Hewlett-Packard and Johnson & Johnson among others. Muthal is considered to be one of the most influential leaders of India.

L P Bhanu Sharma, the principal of Apex College, said while the government should be directly involved in the development of the human resources, in case of Nepal, the private sector has been more active.

Nepal is already in a low-position in terms of human resource development. Thus, it is crucial that government gives more emphasis on this, said Mohan Ojha, managing director of Growth Sellers.

He also said that the upcoming HR Meet 2011 will provide a platform to human resource professionals to share their ideas and experiences under a single roof with experts.

Sharma will be presenting a paper on the topic 'Spiritual Approach of Stress Management' in the HR Meet.

"The workplace triggers stress that leads to depression. Thus, tackling workplace is in everyone's interest," Sharma said, citing World Health Organisation (WHO) report, which has stated that by the year 2030, 45 per cent of the world's population will suffer from depression.

Janak Shah, president of Management Association of Nepal (MAN), also echoed Sharma's opinion regarding the need of government participation in human resource development.

Shah was one of the jury members in last year's 'HR Manager of the Year 2009' award.
