

Role of HR in streamlining learning and development by Mr. Riswo Ram Gorkhali – Operations Director, Nepal Youth Foundation

Mr. Gorkhali emphasized on the importance of learning and development in an organizational context. He highlighted that the role of HR is very important in ushering this culture within the organization. He further mentioned that the learning attitudes vary in different working sectors and hence, the HR should be able to understand the organizational culture for making the learning and development adaptable to any given workplace. He also had a brief presentation about NYF and its thematic areas of intervention, shared experience related to Olgapuri Vocational School. He engaged the participants by making them share the challenges they have experienced that hindered their learning and development. He further addressed the issues and challenges shared by the participants.